

Bitita & Dana

Dear Birth Mother,

Hello! We're Dana and Bitá, and we would like to begin by thanking you for taking the time to learn about us. We respect and appreciate your courageous decision, and we know that it comes from a place of love. You are our hero for helping us to bring a child into our family!

Thank you for taking the time to read our profile and getting to know us. We're more than ready to bring a child into our home, and we're excited about becoming parents and building our family.

We would like to have an open adoption and share pictures with you and build a relationship with you and your family, if that's something that you would also like to do. If not, you can rest assured that this child will always be reminded of the loving decision you made on their behalf.

Our story began at a gathering in the home of our mutual friend. We knew right away that we had a special connection. We began dating and had fun exploring the city together, which included lots of laughter and engaging conversation. Over time, we built a strong and loving relationship that brings more joy and happiness each day into our lives. A few years later, we were married overlooking our favorite lake and surrounded by our family and close friends.

We've been looking forward to building a family together for some time now, and we are both ready to enter this exciting, new chapter in our lives. We cannot wait to provide a loving, nurturing, and supportive home for this baby and share with them all of the fun and excitement of life.

“Where do I even begin with Dana? She is an amazing partner, daughter, sister, auntie, godmother, and friend. One of the first things that struck me about her was her love for family, which is a value we both share. After getting to know her and seeing her light-hearted energy and genuine care for other people, I knew that I wanted to spend the rest of my life with her.

Dana loves her job as a professor of education and is passionate about teaching and learning. She is lucky to be able to work from home when she needs to, which means she can spend more time with a child in the future!

When she's not busy in the classroom, Dana loves to cook, garden and take on major home projects. She has taught me how to really enjoy life - the first thing she bought for our new house was a hammock! This is in the same spirit I see her being a great mom--nurturing, loving, considerate, hardworking, playful, passionate about life and will empower a child to know that they can accomplish anything that they dream”.

~Bita

“I am so excited to parent a child right alongside Bitia. She is a wonderful person and I know she is going to be an amazing mom! Bitia has this amazing ability to make those around her feel relaxed, comfortable, and to be their full selves. She is fun and easy to be around and is great with kids. All of the children in our lives love her and are always happy to play with her!

As a counselor, Bitia makes a substantial difference in the lives of college students. She loves her job supporting young people and watching their transformation to become empowered, self-reliant, happy and balanced young adults. She also believes in a work and life balance, and after work and on weekends she dedicates as family time. We're both lucky to work on academic calendars, which will allow us plenty of time to be home in the summers and during breaks in the school year.”

~Dana

We really love the home that we've made together! We've created a cozy and comfortable home decorated with pictures of our loved ones (including lots of pictures of all the beautiful kids in our lives!) and artwork from our travels representing both our African American and Iranian cultural backgrounds. We both have a strong sense of cultural pride, and we hope to pass on the same sense of pride in one's own cultural legacies to the children we raise.

We thoroughly enjoy our city and all the cultural festivals, arts, beaches, and local parks that it offers. Our home is located in a diverse neighborhood with many other growing families, great schools, family-friendly restaurants and a playground and park within walking distance. We dream of the day when we can share all of this and more with a child!

If you were to visit us on any given day, you'd probably find us cooking, gardening, playing with our two sweet cats or just relaxing on the patio. On the weekends, we like hiking, walking around the lake, taking on home projects or reading in the hammock in our backyard. We also love inviting over friends and family for brunch or dinner or a backyard barbecue. Our fenced-in yard is ready for a swing set and children's games.

We are very close with our families and love spending time with them, as much as possible. Our parents are very excited about being grandparents, and our siblings are very much looking forward to being uncles and aunts to our child.

Our families love big gatherings, enjoying the holidays and traveling together! Since we both have the summers off, we tend to spend lots of time outside with family and always take a couple of vacations.

Thank you for considering us as adoptive parents. We wish you all the best in your process of finding the right parents for your child.

Love,
Dana & Bitu