

Robert &
Elizabeth

Dear Birthmama,

We are so thankful that you're taking the time out of your day to read a little bit about us. Whether we feel like the right choice for your child or not, we are so thankful for you and in awe of your bravery.

It is women like you, with your strength and love, that make it so we have the opportunity to be parents...which is the biggest joy and privilege of our lives.

A Baby with Us

A child with us will be a child that is supported and loved unconditionally through every stage of their life. We are so excited to nurture another child and hold their hand as they explore the world, find their passions and live a life that is so, so full. We will love them as fiercely as we will protect them.

A birthmother with us will be one who is honored, loved, cared about and supported in every way. We will be there for you as much as you want us to be, and you won't ever feel alone in this process.

Our Home

We adopted a little boy named Theo, who was born in February 2020. The transition to parenthood has been surprisingly natural. We have still been able to hold onto that quiet and simple life we built as we transitioned into parenthood. Since Theo arrived, our home has been filled with laughter, learning, extra coffee, and very messy meal times!

In looking for our second and final adoption, we are familiar with not only what it means to adopt a child, but we are familiar with parenting (and we'd say we're pretty good at it! ;) There is nothing that has brought us more joy and love than being parents, and we are so very excited to complete our family.

Robert

Robert works as a Business Consultant. He is gentle, kind and stable. He has the ability to calm everyone around him. He has the cleanest, most pun-filled humor. Robert is a mean piano player and loves to sing. He's been known to break out in ridiculous dance moves just to cheer someone up. He has been a very involved and hands-on father from the day Theo was placed with us.

Robert seamlessly comes in after working, cooks dinner every night and loves to take over the bedtime routine. He reads Theo's bedtime stories with many voices and holds and sings to him after. It's these beautiful moments that make up our day and family.

Robert strongly values education and lifelong learning and creativity. He creates music, stories and six-person board games with our friends. Robert is my rock. He is strong, loyal, kind and very family-focused.

Elizabeth

Elizabeth finished her Masters Degree in 2019 and is primarily a stay-at-home Mom. She picks up a couple shifts a month working in a nearby hospital emergency department, but is home with Theo during the day, 7 days a week and makes sure her couple shifts per month don't impact any family time.

Elizabeth loves books and started a local book club in the area. She is a natural caregiver. She spent over 10 years nannying throughout college and graduate school, with the passion and knowledge to care for children of all ages.

Elizabeth was meant to be a mom. When I see her with Theo or out with our friends' or families' children, I see how natural it is for her. How caring and at ease she is, even in the challenging moments. She is the most empathetic and genuine person I have ever met.

Us as Parents

We spend time reading to Theo on our porch swing every day, going for walks around our little town, running around the local playground, singing, listening to music and lots of dancing. We believe strongly in Elizabeth continuing to stay home, building each day's activities around what our family needs. We do that now with one child and cannot wait to do that with two.

We have always dreamed of having two children. And we hope those children can be as close in age as possible, allowing them to explore, play and go through life together.

Our Neighborhood

We live in a cozy corner of Massachusetts, in our home nestled in a small cul-de-sac surrounded by trees. Our life is quiet and it's simple - and we love that.

In choosing a town to raise a family, we chose to live in an area with significant cultural and racial diversity as well as high ranking school systems. We want to give the children we are trusted with every opportunity to succeed and feel comfortable in their surroundings.

Our 4-year-old Australian Shepard, Luna, is gentle, kind and loves being outside with our neighbors' kids.

Our Family

We have an inter-racial family, with many of Robert's family coming from the Caribbean. Regardless of the race of the baby, it is important to us to surround them with culture that feels comfortable to him/her and support them in finding their own identity.

Our Family

Most of our family lives close by, along with a tight-knit group of friends. We rent a house on the ocean for a couple weeks every summer with our extended family and a few friends. Our family has welcomed Theo with enthusiasm, love and joy. We have family and friends who Facetime daily, and he gets visits from his grandparents several times a week.

Both of our families are over the moon about our wish to adopt a second child and cannot wait to love and spoil them!

we love
you BOTH already!

With love,
Elizabeth & Robert
