

Erik & Meg

Dear Birth Mother,

So lovely to meet you, and thankful that you are reading this letter! We feel very honored to take care of your little one. We have had the privilege to both know and love each other, and now we can share in that love with your baby, too. It's a new and yet so exciting experience for us. We are eager to meet you, eager to know you, and eager to have this new connection in our lives through your baby.

What has brought us to the adoption process has been a series of difficult decisions caused by debilitating and never-ending infertility issues. We've been trying to become parents since 2011, and it's not a journey I would wish any woman to take. But it has shown to both of us and everyone else, just how amazingly strong we are as a couple. We can handle anything! And I do mean anything.

So, we are more than ready to become your dear baby's parents. They will live their childhood supported by a mom and dad who can't wait to teach, to share, to encourage, to respect, and to love them. It'll be a great foundation for the rest of their life.

We are so thankful for you!

We met while working at the same job! It wasn't a glamorous job, just a funny local call center, but rather than wanting to talk to customers, we began chatting with each other! And discovered we had a lot in common, like a LOT, and pretty much have never stopped chatting.

We got married in 2008 after being together since 2005...

Erik & I have many adventures and travel frequently. We've been to many places, including Ireland, the Caribbean, Arizona, North Carolina, Virginia, Florida, New York, Massachusetts, and Seattle, too.

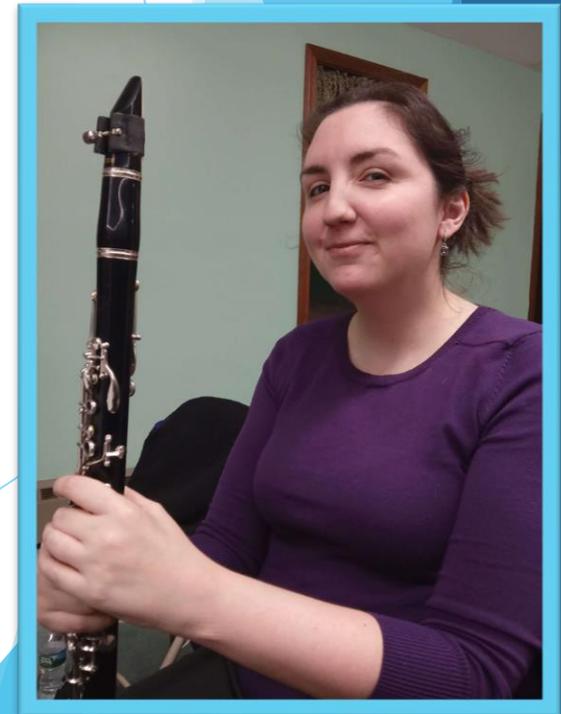

ERIK

I love to read! Sci-Fi and Fantasy books are my favorite. I am a passionate fan of cinema and attend almost every local screening of older black and white and silent films. My weekends are spent on home improvements and using my carpentry skills to build garages and decks around my own house. Even though I currently work in construction and on carpentry projects, my years spent working as a chef has translated into my love of food and cooking at home. Top Chef or Chopped are my favorite shows and my adventurous culinary spirit has helped me expand my cooking horizons every day. I can't wait to pass that onto our child.

MEG

I have been a passionate creative writer since a young age, and happily work on my stories or poetry pretty much every day. I've written several novels, been published as a short story writer, and started my own small press publishing company as well. I also have a passion for music and currently play clarinet in a local orchestra. I have a piano in my house that I play as well. I play music and sing in the house all the time, especially when cooking or baking or cleaning, and can not wait to share my love of music with your child if they are interested.

We will continue to travel as a family, and I think it'll be great to show my child many different and interesting places in the world. England, Scotland, Australia, Italy, Greece, and more American states are all on our travel bucket list. We are very curious to see interesting locales.

Family

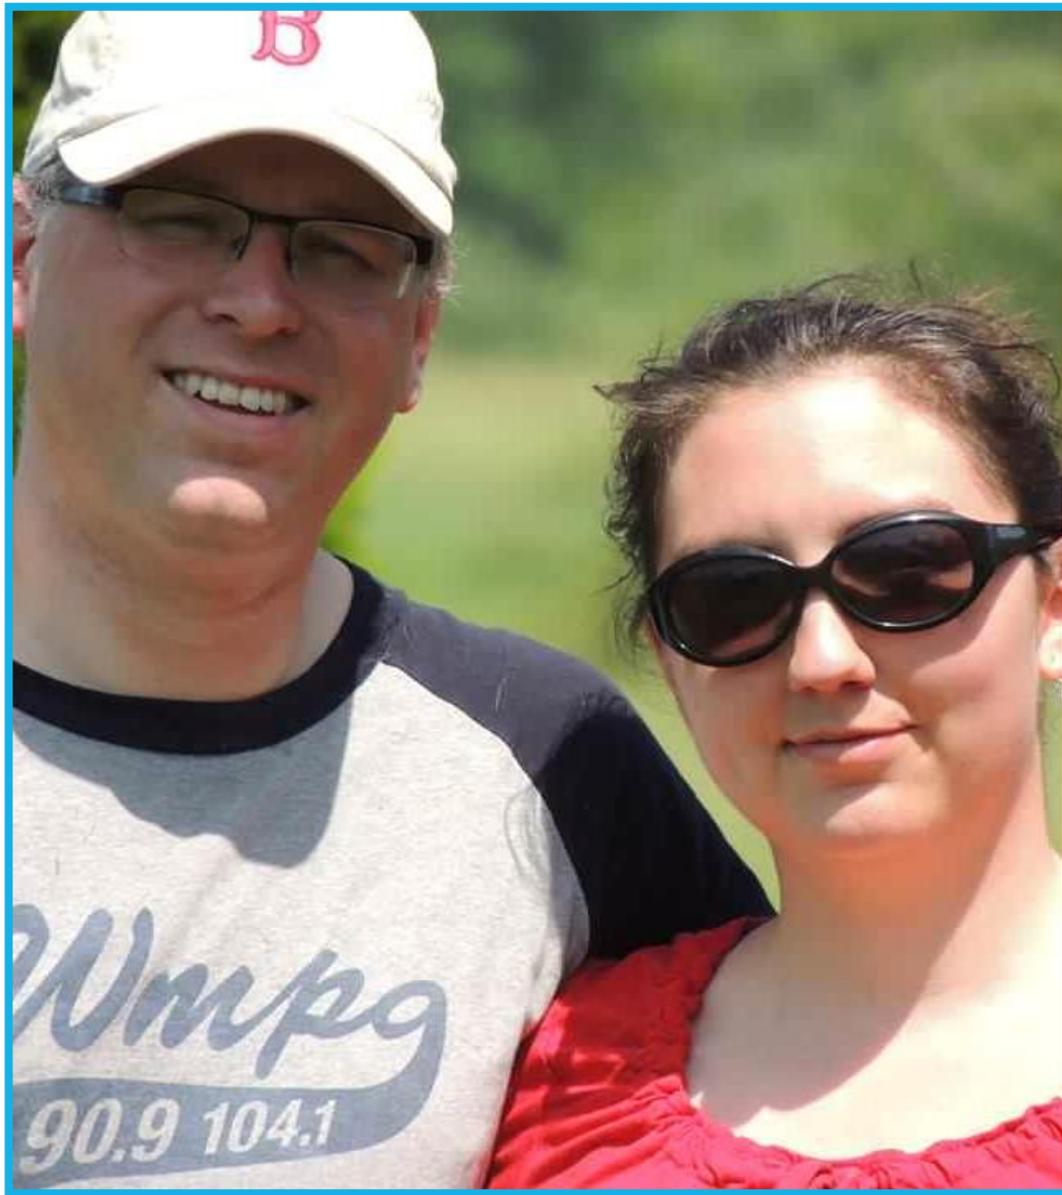

Our day-to-day home life is filled with lots of cooking/baking (both of us spend a lot of time in the kitchen), taking care of house projects, and chilling with our dogs (we have two - Lizzie & Rufus). I always have my little pug Lizzie with me, and she snuggles with me on the couch while I'm reading or writing or watching something on TV.

On the weekends, we'll see a movie or get food from a favorite restaurant or build a fire in the firepit. We stay active, taking long walks or mini-hikes around our neighborhood, and going to the gym as well. Being physically fit is an important life skill we'll share with our child.

Home Sweet Home

Our home is a sweet little 'cottage in the city, a cute cape-cod in an older, quiet, and dog-friendly neighborhood just a mile or so from the ocean in Maine. This is our permanent home, and it's very cute, with a single driveway and garage, a back porch, and a lawn to play on. We are within walking distance of a nice little shopping center that includes a bank, grocery store, pharmacy, bookstore, and a coffee shop, too. Just down the block are an elementary school and a middle school, so when your child gets older, they can walk to school! I did that as a kid myself. Your child will receive a wonderful and local education. We will also encourage them to attend college, since we see that as the first extremely important step towards a successful adulthood, too.

We are so thankful for you!

Sincerely and truly,

~Meg and Erik
